A Webinar on the Ecological Importance and Non-lethal Management of Beavers

Mike Callahan, President of the Beaver Institute, will discuss beavers, their ecological importance, and how to successfully manage beaver problems when they occur. Since 1998 he has personally resolved over 1,700 human-beaver conflicts.

In addition, Mike will reveal a new Beaver Institute program designed to assist property owners and municipalities resolve human-beaver conflicts non-lethally in Connecticut. The Connecticut Beaver Initiative can financially assist CT property owners and towns to resolve beaver conflicts in a cost-effective, environmentally friendly, humane, and long-term manner.
